

Andrew has 20 years experience in the market research industry, beginning in 2000 with Western Opinion Research, which became NRG Research group. In the Fall of 2019, NRG was acquired by Leger Marketing and Andrew assumed the role of Executive Vice President, Winnipeg. In this role, Andrew directs and manages Leger's complement of researchers in Winnipeg.

Andrew personally manages numerous research projects of various methodologies and magnitudes in a typical year. He also serves as the senior qualitative research moderator with the company.

Prior to his time in the research industry, Andrew spent almost a decade working in the governments of Canada, Ontario and Manitoba. He had the good fortune to support several Cabinet Ministers and Premiers during this time, providing advice on an array of different public affairs topics.

Andrew holds a Bachelor of Arts, Political Sciences/History (1988) from the University of Manitoba.